General Eagan Sends a Revised Statement to War Board.

HIS LETTER OF APOLOGY.

The Head of the Commissary Department Says He Intended No Disrespect to the Members of the Commission.

Washington, Jan. 16.—Commissary General Eagan sent to the war investigating commission a revised statement in place of that originally made in response to General Miles' charges.

The revised statement is about 35 per cent shorter than that which was ordered withdrawn because of its violent character.

The commission, after its receipt, went into secret session to read the document and decide whether, in its present form, it had been expurgated sufficiently to permit it to be made a part of the commission's record.

Following is the text of the letter sent by General Eagan to the war commission, with an amended statement in reply to the charges made by General Miles concerning the beef furnished the army:

"Gentlemen—I have the honor to hand you my testimony, which is now resubmitted and revised in accordance with the views expressed by you in your letter to me on Jan. 13, 1899.

"The objectionable features, and what is considered irrelevant matter, by you, in which opinion I entire agree, are eliminated.

"In this connection I desire to state that there was never a thought or intention on my part of any disrespect whatsoever to your commission, but in explanation and in extenuation of the language used by me heretofore, I beg to invite the attention of the commission to the fact that I have been accused practically of feeding soldiers with poisoned beef, which made them sick—'embalmed beef,' so-called—that I have furnished meat to the army under the pretense of 'experiment,' which charge in effect is corruption and worse, because it jeopardizes the lives of soldiers sent to the front in tropical climates, and who were dependent on such food as was sent them; that these statements have gone to the whole country uncontradicted; that they have been published, and I have been pilloried in the press of the country as a man who had fed the army on poisoned meat and corruptly so; that for about three weeks time I have kept silent for the reason that I was debarred, after talking with the honorable secretary of war, from preparing charges, because of the immunity granted by the president to witnesses before your commission, notwithstanding the gravity of the accusations; that it is unreasonable to believe that such monstrous charges could have any other effect than to work upon an honorable man in such a way as to goad him to a species of desperation, and that it was natural, when the proper opportunity was given him, to meet and refute the charges; that he should characterize them in harsh language and in terms that are deemed improper, no matter what the provocation.

"I therefore withdraw the language and matter so objectionable, and resubmit to you now my sworn statement, with the abiding faith that your commission, having all the facts before you, will decide the points at issue justly."

The commission, after a brief secret session, decided for the present to make public only General Eagan's letter, and not the statement accompanying it.

Accepted the Place.

Washington, Jan. 16.—President Schurman of Cornell university was at the White House and had a talk with the president. On leaving he said that he had accepted a position on a commission of five, which is to be appointed to study the commercial and social problems of the Philippines. It is now understood that the other members of the commission will be Admiral Dewey, General Otis, Colonel Charles Denby and Professor Dean C. Worcester of Ann Arbor university. The work of the commission, it is understood, will be purely of an economic and not of a political nature. They will study the manners, and habits of the Filipinos, the material resources of the country and its commercial possibilities, but they will not attempt to deal with the problem of government for the islands.

Morrill's Successor Sworn In.

Washington, Jan. 16.—The senate held no session for the transaction of business. When the body convened at 12 o'clock it proceeded at once to the hall of the house of representatives to attend as a body the obsequies of the late Representative Nelson A. Dingley. At 1 o'clock the senate returned to its chamber, Jonathan Ross, appointed by Governor Smith of Vermont, to fill the unexpired term of the late Justin S. Morrill, was sworn in.

Critical Stage Over.

Washington, Jan. 16.—General Otis was heard from again at Manila, and the contents of his cablegram were so reassuring as to the situation there, and at Iloilo, that the officials here have come to accept without question the correctness of his statement that the critical stage is past, and that he has control of the situation.

ONE MESSAGE

About Missing Yacht Paul Jones With Pleasure Seekers.

Louisville, Jan. 16.—Lawrence Jones of this city, the owner of the missing yacht, "Paul Jones," received a telegram from Mr. A. C. Marshall, superintendent of the Louisville and Nashville railroad, at New Orleans, which stated that a strange yacht, with two masts, supposed to be the Paul Jones, had been sighted 15 miles off Horn island Saturday night going east. The description tallies with that of Paul Jones. This is the first information that has been received of the yacht. It had on board a pleasure party of prominent St. Louis, Louisville and Indianapolis people.

Sent After Paul Jones.

Washington, Jan. 16.—At the request of Senator Fairbanks the secretary of the treasury has ordered the cutter Winona, at Mobile, to go to sea immediately in search of the yacht Paul Jones, thought to be in distress between New Orleans and Pensacola, Fla.

Order For German Guns.

Constantinople, Jan. 16.—An imperial decree has been issued ordering the purchase of 162 Krupp field guns and 30,000 shrapnell shells. This is undoubtedly the outcome of the act of Emperor William on his return from the Orient, in presenting the sultan of Turkey with a perfect model of the most modern Krupp field gun introduced into the German army. The German newspapers at the time commented approvingly on the emperor's shrewdness, which, they predicted, would result in Turkey sending a large order for guns to Germany.

Prussian Diet Opened.

Berlin, Jan. 16.—The Prussian diet was opened with a speech from the throne, in which Emperor William said that the financial situation continued favorable, the bases of both political and national life being soundly established, and the prosperity of the country visibly growing. His majesty regarded the future with confidence, and mentioned the measures which would be introduced to extend state railroads and navigable canals from the Dortmund-Ems canal to the Rhine, Weser and Elbe.

Hostile Newspaper Criticism.

Paris, Jan. 16.—French sentiment is once more being worked up against the United States for the Spanish war. Hostile newspaper criticism, which temporarily was shut down by the victories of Manila and Santiago, is now reasserting itself in consequence of the difficulties which President McKinley's vacillating policy have caused in the Philippines. One of the leading journals recently accused America of going to Manila as Lafayette and acting like William the Conqueror.

Mexican Liner Is Lost.

Mexico City, Jan. 16.—The steamer Vera Cruz, a Mexican liner belonging to Romanos, left the port of Vera Cruz on Dec. 13 last for Tampico. The trip takes only two days, and the vessel is now 21 days overdue. It is feared in shipping circles that she is lost. The Vera Cruz was a freight and passenger boat, and carried several passengers on this trip.

Censorship Over Political News.

New York, Jan. 16.—The Eastern Telegraph company says: "We beg to inform you that we have received advice from Manila stating that the American government now notify us that censorship is applicable to all outward and homeward telegrams containing political news."

Death of Boutelle Senior.

Washington, Jan. 16.—Lewis Henry Boutelle, father of Representative Boutelle of Illinois, died here of heart trouble, after an illness of about 10 days. Funeral services will be held at the son's residence here, and the body will then be taken to Evanston, Ill., for interment.

The Weather.

For West Virginia—Probably clearing and colder; brisk southerly winds, becoming westerly.

For Ohio—Fair; colder; brisk southerly winds, becoming northwesterly.

For Indiana—Snow flurries; colder; southerly winds, shifting to northwest.

THE MINERS IN A MIX.

Several Amendments to the Constitution Are Adopted.

ANNUAL MEETING CHANGED.

Outlook For an Agreement Between the Operators and Miners at the Conference Regarded as an Uncertain Quantity.

Pittsburg, Jan. 16.—When the convention of United Mine Workers resumed it was announced that the scale committee had not completed its work, and all members who had suggestions were requested to present them to the committee.

The committee on constitution reported several amendments to the constitution.

Among the most important changes were the following: An increase in the executive board from six to eight members, exclusive of the president, vice president and secretary-treasurer. No district having less than 5,000 members shall be entitled to representation on the executive board; time of holding the national convention the third Monday in January, instead of the second Monday. These amendments were all adopted after some little opposition.

Resolutions were then presented opposing the annexation of the Philippines on the grounds that they are inhabited by 8,000,000 persons, mostly of the coolie labor class, and their admission would be most threatening to American labor and to the organized trades of the country; also opposing the indorsement by the convention of any political party or candidates who are opposed to the principle of common ownership. Both resolutions were defeated.

A resolution to put forth efforts to organize the miners in the anthracite region was adopted.

A STUBBORN FIGHT

Is Expected Between the Coal Operators and Miners.

Pittsburg, Jan. 16.—This week will witness a battle royal between the coal operators and the United Mine Workers over the interstate agreement.

The operators from St. Louis and Illinois are already here, and in another day it is expected that representatives from all the states interested will be in the city.

The joint convention is scheduled for Tuesday afternoon, but if the miners do not get through with their business the meeting will be postponed until Wednesday.

It is generally understood that the operators will energetically oppose an advance in the price of mining, and will fight to the end any agreement looking toward an increase in the present wages.

The business, they admit, has been better during the last 90 days than for a long time, but they are hampered by a lack of cars for transportation.

Some of the miners' delegates say they will insist both upon an advance in wages and the 8-hour day. They claim that nearly all the mines of the country are being worked to their full capacity, and that there is a scarcity of miners in many districts.

Michigan iron ore operators are sending agents through the coal mining districts of Illinois engaging coal diggers to go to the iron mines.

Altogether the situation, they say, warrants asking for more money. Some of the delegates even went so far as to hint that if their demands were not complied with a strike of greater magnitude than the country has seen for years would be inaugurated next summer.

The Badgering Case.

New York, Jan. 16.—Mrs. Fayne Strahan Moore, in whose recent trial for complicity with her husband in "badgering" Martin Mahon, the jury disagreed, was arraigned before Justice Fursman in the criminal branch of the supreme court. The purpose of the arraignment was to place the case on the February calendar. Although Mr. Levy, counsel for Mrs. Moore, pleaded for delay, the case went down on the calendar to take its regular order thereon. Prior to the departure of Mrs. Moore from the Tombs, Mrs. Strahan, her mother, who came up from Atlanta, Ga., saw her daughter in the Tombs, cried over her and said: "Cheer up, my child, we shall soon get you out of this."

Story Is Not True.

New York, Jan. 16.—President Samuel Spencer of the Southern Railway company said there is absolutely no truth in recent rumors that the syndicate, which had purchased the Seaboard Airline would turn over the property to the Southern Railway company.

THOUSANDS OF PEOPLE

Had a Farewell Look at the Face of Representative Dingley.

Washington, Jan. 16.—A state funeral, almost majestic in its impressiveness, was given the late Representative Nelson Dingley at noon in the house of representatives, where he has so long been such a commanding figure. The president, his cabinet, distinguished members of the diplomatic corps, members of the supreme court, senate and house, and distinguished men in military and civil life were ranged about his bier on the floor of the hall, while the galleries to which admission could be obtained only by card were occupied by the families of those who sat upon the floor, and of the prominent personages invited to be present.

Not since the late William D. Kelly of Pennsylvania was given a state funeral in the house, during the Fifty-first congress, while President McKinley was chairman of the ways and means committee, has such an honor been accorded a member of the house.

The casket was placed on a bier in the area in front of the marble rostrum of the speaker, and for an hour the public, which would have no opportunity to witness the official ceremonies later, was allowed to view the remains as they lay in state.

Thousands of people streamed through the main door down past the casket and gazed upon the calm, serene features of the dead during that hour.

The house pages and other employees of the house entered the line and took a last view of the revered statesman.

The only floral piece on the casket was a cluster of orchids, the gift of Mrs. Blaine. At the head of the casket, like a halo above the calm brow of the great man, was a magnificent wreath of orchids and lilies of the valley tied with deep purple ribbon, which had been sent by the president.

During the interval before 12 almost every member of the house stood for a moment by the casket with bowed head.

Directly across the aisle from the presidential party and in front of the casket sat the large family of the deceased, representing three generations.

It included the two sons, Edward N. and Arthur, with the wife and two children of Mr. Edward N. Dingley. One of the children, a bright-faced young boy, has the name of his distinguished grandfather, Nelson Dingley.

Owing to the imperative directions of the doctors, the afflicted widow remained at her room during the official ceremony. Her daughter, Miss Dingley, remained at her side to comfort and assist.

A deep hush fell upon the assemblage. Suddenly, out of the loft in the rear of the press gallery, the notes of an organ pulsed and echoed through the hall. It was the first time in the history of the house of representatives that music had been heard in it. A quartet sang impressively, "Crossing the Bar." The beautiful words are by Tennyson, beginning:

"Sunset and evening star,
And one clear call for me,"

The services were conducted by the Revs. M. Newman of the First Congregational church of this city, assisted by Rev. Dr. Couden, chaplain of the house.

Rev. Couden, the blind chaplain of the house, made a touching prayer, and the exercises were concluded with the singing by the quartet, to the organ accompaniment, of "Jesus, Lover of My Soul."

That Loan to Wright.

Sacramento, Jan. 16.—The contest for United States senator is growing sensational. D. M. Burns and U. S. Grant, Jr., the leading candidates, are holding their votes, but no gains are being made. The statement published that Howard Wright, speaker of the assembly, had been offered money by Grant has caused considerable excitement. Wright alleges that he borrowed $750 from Mr. Green, who acts as Grant's political manager. Green says that the money was lent to Wright, who is an old friend, and that there was no understanding that he was able to vote for Grant.

French Premier Sustained.

Paris, Jan. 16.—At the opening of the session of the chamber of deputies the premier, M. Dupuy, demanded, amid applause, the immediate discussion of the budget. M. Firmin Faure, Revisionist and Anti-Semite, representing the First division, Oron, Algeria, desired to discuss without delay Colonel Picquart's appearance before a courtmartial. The premier, however, suggested shelving the matter for a month, but as Mr. Firmin Faure insisted a vote was taken and the chamber supported the premier by 422 to 74. The budget debate was then commenced.

New York, Jan. 16.—William A. E. Moore, the husband of Fayne Moore, was taken from the Tombs to Sing Sing, to serve out a 19-year sentence.

PAY FOR THE CUBANS.

Uncle Sam Will Advance the Money In the Shape of a Loan.

TOTAL IS FORTY MILLIONS.

According to the Statements of One of the Commission Who Visited the This Country Their Mission Has Been Successful.

New York, Jan. 16.—According to Brigadier General Joseph Miguel Gomez, a member of the Cuban commission now in Washington, the Cuban army is sure to receive the three years' pay to which it is entitled, $40,000,000 being advanced by the United States, with the custom houses of Cuba as security for its repayment.

Brigadier General Gomez, who has just arrived in this city from Washington, is grateful for the way the commission has been received. The negotiations, it is expected, will be completed by the end of this month, when the commission will return to Cuba.

General Gomez says: "Our hopes have all been realized. At first, however, things looked very dark for us. Poor General Garcia was the most pessimistic member of the commission.

"He had little hope for the success of our plans when he left for Washington. The rest of the commission argued, however, that as the Americans had taken charge of Cuba, and thus prevented us from raising money, we had a right to request a loan with which to pay off our men.

"General Garcia asked for only $100 each. The other commissioners protested because of the small amount. Then came the general's death, and for the time being negotiations were suspended. At our next meeting it was agreed that an official list of the men in the Cuban army would be required before any agreement could be reached. Accordingly, I left for Cuba, whence I returned on Jan. 6 with the required document.

"There are 47,000 men to be paid in the Cuban army. The amount we have requested is $40,000,000, to be turned over to us either in one or three payments. We will give as security the custom houses in Cuba. Should the government not care to lend that sum, we are willing to take one-third of it and later pay the men the rest.

"As affairs now stand, however, I think we will receive the amount in three payments. This, however, is not decided as yet. The late Mr. Dingley was in favor of giving us the amount in one payment."

Speaking of the present condition of affairs in Havana, General Gomez said it was bad.

General Gomez will return to Washington at once. The body of General Garcia will be taken to Cuba by the commissioners.

Colonel Bryan at Denver.

Denver, Jan. 16.—Colonel William J. Bryan and his wife arrived in Denver. They were met by a reception committee and escorted to the residence of Hon. T. M. Patterson. A public reception to Colonel Bryan was given by the Denver Bimetallic league, and hundreds of people embraced the opportunity to grasp the hand of the silver champion. The program includes an address to the legislature and a public address in the evening, the subject of which is "Naboth's Vineyard."

Editorial From London Times.

London, Jan. 16.—A leader in the London Times shows that it is the duty of the United States to put an end to the present situation in the archipelago, as may be read between the lines. The following is an abstract: "The powers are bound to hold aloof, except in the event, which we are entitled to regard as inconceivable, of the complete failure on the part of Americans to maintain or secure the liberties and property of citizens of other countries."

Noted Forger Arrested.

Port Huron, Mich., Jan. 16.—Sheriff Kempley and H. C. Penman, a hotel-keeper of Rock Rapids, Ia., arrived here. They will take home with them Andrew K. Conover, whom Penman has identified as a noted forger, who, it is alleged, has perpetrated swindles in various towns in Iowa, Illinois and Nebraska. It is stated that detectives have turned up 30 of Conover's forged drafts, cashed by as many banks.

Nashville, Jan. 16.—In the hall of the house of representatives, in the presence of an immense throng, Benton McMilla was inaugurated as governor.

Kentucky—Threatening weather, followed by fair; much colder; variable winds, becoming northerly.

MASON County has never been honored with a State office. The fact should strengthen the claims of Dr. Frazee for the nomination for Commissioner of Agriculture. The Democracy of Mason now ask for that consideration of the candidacy of one of her most worthy sons which they have always been ready to grant to aspirants from other portions of the Commonwealth.

THE wire trust has advanced prices 25 cents on the hundred since it got control, recently, of a few more of the independent factories. It practically monopolizes the trade now, and the advance shows what a trust is organized for. A day of reckoning, however, is certain to come for such combinations of capital. The American people will not always submit to be robbed, and the sooner the trusts realize this the better it will be for them and the country in general.

THE EVIL OF TRUSTS.

The $90,000,000 Wire Trust has already advanced the price of wire $2 a ton, and has cut the wages of the men in the rod mills at New Castle, Pa., 10 per cent., with the warning that if they do not accept the reduction those mills will be closed indefinitely and the mills at Beaver Falls, where wages are lower, will be operated instead. The big Obner mills in Pittsburgh have also been closed, and it is announced that when they are reopened it will be with a lower scale of wages.

These great "combines" being organized to make more profits can go about it in two ways—by advancing the price of finished products and by reducing the price paid for raw material. Some trusts try only the first plan; others, like this monopoly, adopt both devices. In this case, powerful as it is, the trust is in no condition to buy its iron and steel any cheaper on account of the extraordinary demand prevailing. However, the greatest element of cost in manufacturing is wages, and here it is always possible for an unscrupulous employer to economize. The trust realizes this, and acts accordingly. Flesh and blood are cheap, and when men are given the alternative of lower pay or starvation they do not hesitate.

One of the greatest evils in connection with trusts is the power they possess to depress the returns of the producer. Whether the raw material take the form of the working man's brain and brawn or the products of the farms or mines or the forests, it is all the same. Ultimately the profit must come out of the class that gets the least.

No wonder popular prejudice against trusts is constantly growing.—Courier Journal.

What is true as to the operations of the wire trust is true of all other such combines. All are aiming to enrich themselves without regard to justice or the rights of others. Down with the trusts. Down with any and every law and party that fosters and encourages such combinations.

For Hiccoughs.

[Exchange.] For a severe case of the hiccoughs four to six drops of nitrate of amyl on a handkerchief inhaled at intervals is probably the best remedy in the world.

A person who had suffered four days with the hiccoughs, both sleeping and waking, found relief by having electricity applied at the pit of the stomach, the connection with the opposite pole being made by a sponge held in one hand.

For mild cases of hiccoughs a few mustard seeds may be soaked in water, and the mustard water should be sipped every ten minutes until a person is relieved.

LOUISVILLE WAREHOUSEMEN.

They Refuse to Make Any Further Reduction in the Fees For Selling Tobacco.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Jan. 14.—The Louisville warehousemen met to-day to consider the request of the Tobacco Growers' League of Kentucky for a reduction in the selling fee from the present rate of $1.50 per hoghead charged by warehouses here. The warehousemen declined to reduce, setting forth that they could not afford to do so, and that they have already once reduced from $2. The answer was:

"On the business likely to be done on our market this year the reduction in fees (of from $2 to $1.50 per hoghead) will probably amount to a saving of $75,000 to $100,000 to the sellers of tobacco (and consequently a like reduction in the warehouse earnings) as compared with the charges which were made before the date named. This of itself should be evidence of a desire on the part of the Louisville warehousemen to trade with their customers on a basis of conservative charges, and they submit that any further reduction in fees would not be consistent with the honest administration of the business or with a fair return for the work and capital involved.

"The warehouse trade here submits that in its opinion the most important work which the Tobacco Growers' League of Kentucky could accomplish would be in the direction of securing the concentration of the purchasing demand on the open auction markets; and, further, that an additional reduction in warehouse fees would not tend to that object, but, on the contrary, would diminish the facilities of the warehousemen in their efforts in this direction, as it would restrict their ability to reach, and accommodate that large part of the producing element requiring assistance in marketing the crop and in carrying it over periods of extreme depression."

Elizabeth Cromwell.

Cromwell legends are so ubiquitous in England that it is a real relief to lay one's hand upon a bit of solid fact relating either to the protector or his family. Elizabeth, the second and favorite daughter of Cromwell, married John Claypole of Northborough, and appears to have spent a considerable portion of her 13 years of wedded life in his substantial fourteenth century house. Carlyle asserts Elizabeth Claypole to have been "a graceful, brave and amiable woman," and of her home that it is "now ruined—patched into a farmhouse."

The second statement is not characterized by his usual accuracy, and the first probably needs some modification, for Elizabeth Claypole is credited with some turning of her head over her father's elevation, and at a wedding feast is reported to have exclaimed, when asked why the wives of the major generals were absent, "I'll warrant you, washing their dishes at home, as they used to do." Not a particularly "amiable" sentence that.

Cromwell seems to have had some insight of her little weakness. "Tell her," he wrote once, "to take heed of a departing heart and of being cozened with worldly vanities and worldly company, which, I doubt, she is too subject to." It is agreed by most authorities that John Claypole himself was little enough of a Puritan, but let it stand to his credit that, after Oliver died, he provided a haven for his widow for the rest of her life in this manner house.—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

A Decidedly Novel Claim.

A claim once made on the explorer, Cameron, in the neighborhood of Gaboon, Africa, shows the peculiar workings of the native African's mind. Some of Cameron's possessions proved unduly attractive to a native, and he determined on transferring the ownership to himself. He accordingly paid another native $200 to procure for him the coveted goods.

The assistant took the money and did his best to earn it, but Mr. Cameron had perversely locked up the very articles that the fellow's employer had set his heart upon. The man could not carry out his bargain, and neither did he feel that he could part with the money. Therefore he ran off with it. What more logical than that the man who was the loser by $200 should expect the explorer to make the loss good? This he assuredly did expect.

He went to Mr. Cameron and told him the story, demanding in the first place the $200 which he, Cameron, by looking up his goods, had compelled the complainant to lose, and, secondly, the actual price of the goods themselves, which, but for these arbitrary measures, would now have been in his possession. It is not stated that his expectations were realized.—Watchman.

If Jerusalem was the birthplace of Christianity, Antioch was the place of baptism. Antioch was the greatest city in the empire after Rome and Alexandria. It possessed—as was computed—some half a million of inhabitants. It was a vast emporium of trade and commerce, and ranked practically as the metropolis of the east.

Most Europeans and Americans wear their finger nails in filbert shape, slightly polished. There have been exceptions to this general rule. Townsend, the renowned Hebraist, had finger nails which were naturally broader than those of ordinary men, and he wore them long, making them portable memorandum books. On them he would inscribe as many Hebrew roots as they would permit and commit the words to memory at odd moments.

BURGLARS broke open two safes in the L. and N. freight depot at Carlisle Sunday morning about 1:30 and also attempted the third at the postoffice, but it is supposed daylight drove them away. The exact amount taken is not known, but it is estimated at nearly $200. The job was evidently done by the same gang who worked Winchester, Cynthiana and other towns. John Churchill and Curtis Kimbrell were arrested at Mt. Sterling on suspicion.

Isaac declared that there was an attempt to squeeze him out of the firm, and he objected. He asserted that his interest was greater than his partners were willing to pay for. Hence the suit. It is asserted that the assets of the concern are at least $40,000, and that the firm is entirely solvent.

To the Memory of Rowland Stubblefield.

Where we oft have met in gladness,
On the holy Sabbath day,
Slowly now, with tearful sadness,
Each pursues his lonely way;
Tears are falling—
On this holy Sabbath day.

One we loved has left our number,
For the dark and silent tomb,
Closed his eyes in death's slumber,
Faded in his early bloom.
Hear us, Savior—
Thou hast blessed the lonely tomb.
Through the dark and narrow portal
Once they bore thee to thy rest;
There a ray of light immortal,
Like a sunbeam from the West,
Burst the shadows—
And the grave thenceforth was blest.

By the light that thus was given
To the darkness of the tomb;
By the blessed light of Heaven,
Gilding scenes of earthly gloom:
Star of gladness—
All our night with joy illumine.
From our circle, darling brother,
Early hast thou passed away;
But the angels say—another,
Join our holy song to-day!
Weep no longer—
Join with them the sacred lay.

NARROW ESCAPE.

Mr. C. A. Goodman, of Wedonia, Struck on the Head By a Piece of Timber During Saturday's Wind.

Mr. C. A. Goodman, of Wedonia, had a narrow escape from death last Saturday morning.

About 7 o'clock he went to his barn to feed and while there the wind blew a tie rail out of the barn. In falling it struck him on top of the head, rendering him unconscious.

When he came to he returned to the house, but was unable to tell what had happened. He was soon seized with convulsions and remained in that condition until 3 o'clock in the afternoon, and did not fully recover consciousness until Sunday morning.

At last accounts he was thought to be out of danger.

How Far Can Quail Fly?

A number of sportsmen have been discussing the question of how far a quail can fly. There are a good many contingencies to be considered in arriving at a definite conclusion of the question, the which cuts no inconsiderable figure in the distance one of these birds can fly. If there is a stiff wind blowing and the bird's course is with the wind, a full grown quail could certainly go more than a mile with ease and doubtless a much greater distance.

Those who have noticed quail trying to fly across the Missouri river, where the distance is about a mile, recall that not all the birds make the trip safely. They usually pick a spot where they can make a halt on a sand bar in mid-stream, and thus cross the river in two flights. But sometimes they make the distance at a single flight, and this seems to be their full limit under normal conditions, for when they alight they are completely exhausted.

It is generally believed that on an average a mile is about the limit of the flight of a quail where it is neither favored nor retarded by the wind. It happens very often that in crossing the Missouri river at a single flight quail drop exhausted into the water. Probably these are young birds.—St. Louis Republic.

Golden Silence.

A man who once met Ralph Waldo Emerson at the house of a friend tells of the characteristic way in which the Concord philosopher blunted the edge of a compliment.

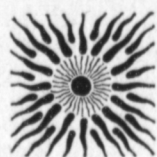

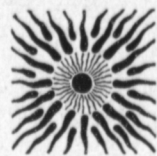

"Oh, Mr. Emerson," said a young woman of the party, "it must be so delightful to know that people all over the country are grateful for the things you have said!"

"Thank you," said Emerson slowly, "but it is for some of the things I have not said that I feel most grateful."

MR. HECHINGER NEVER DOES THINGS BY HALVES.

The unprecedented rush for these goods closed out a good many lots.

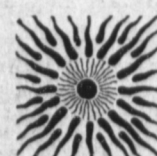

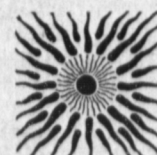

The cry is: More! More!

That the late comers will have the benefit of Mr. H.'s liberal settlement received from the underwriters (and he makes no bones of it that he was well paid for the damages sustained), he went through his immense stock of fine clothing in his Second Street House and whenever he found a lot that the sizes were badly broken, or Suits did not match out exactly, he sent them to the Sutton Street Storeroom, where, no matter what they cost, nor how fine the quality, they will share the same fate as the damaged stock.

Don't delay if you wish to secure some of these bargains.

IN HONOR OF MISS HORD.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hibbs, of Portsmouth, Entertained With a German Friday Evening.

[Portsmouth Times.]

The resources of Portsmouth society people for an evening's enjoyment are not yet exhausted, as was proven Friday night, when Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Hibbs entertained with a "German" at their beautiful home on Glover street.

By 8 o'clock the guests had arrived and soon afterwards the dancing began. The grand march was led, in an unusually graceful manner, by Mr. Paul Esselborn and the guest of honor, Miss May Hord, of Maysville, Ky., for whose pleasure this German was arranged by the genial host and hostess, whose guests she has been for the past two weeks. For this march the room was darkened and all carried lighted candles, the effect being peculiarly beautiful. As the ladies were all handsomely gowned in full dress evening toilets of various colors and shades, the march was kaleidoscopic in its beauty, and presented a picture that will not soon fade from the memory of those who witnessed it. So it was throughout the entire German.

In connection with Li Hung Chang's mission—to inquire into the overflow of the great Yellow river—a Chinese merchant in Boston says that the stream has always been of its present color, except one day about 3,000 years ago, on which occasion a great man was born and the river was perfectly clear.

The czars of Russia have been the favorite game of the assassin. The nobles attacked Czar Paul in 1801. Alexander II was attacked four times before he was finally killed in 1881 by a bomb thrown by a man, who was himself killed in St. Petersburg. Two attempts were also made on the life of the late czar, Alexander III.

"HOLLOW BRACKEN," by Hanson P. Diltz, of Hopkinsville, will shortly be issued by the Dillinghams. Mr. Diltz is author of "Dunleath Abbey" and "Duchess Undine." "Hollow Bracken" is a novel that in no small degree puzzle the critics, says a writer, blending as it does the charm and elegance of fiction of Ouida and Augusta Evans Wilson with the wonderful construction of plot that characterized the romances of a past generation.

FORTY-SIX thousand dollars' worth of Boyle County turnpike bonds, in denomination of $1,000 each, were sold at auction to Seasongood & Mayer, of Cincinnati, at a total premium of $1,246. Rudolph Kleybolte & Co., of Cincinnati, were the highest bidders by a total of $4, but their agent had failed to prepare himself for posting the $1,000 forfeiture demanded.

The handsome new City of Cincinnati floated off the ways at Howard's Shipyard at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon. She will have the machinery off the City of Hickman, and will be ready to enter the Cincinnati and Louisville trade in about four weeks. The fact that she floated off and was not launched will greatly benefit her, as she was subject to no strain.

Captain Sam Moore has among his souvenirs of the five Bostonas that have been in the White Collar Line a number of freight bills bearing the imprint of the late W. W. Pike. The Cincinnati and Portsmouth Bostona of 1868 was in command of Captain E. B. Moore, with S. B. Riggs clerk. They were printed on specially engraved plates that will retain their artistic shades and tints, and are as fine as some of the work of the Government Treasury. There was one Boston and five Bostonas. The last is now running in the Louisville and Cincinnati trade in command of Capt. Sam Bryant.

Tobacco Sales.

Mt. Olivet Advance: "Mr. Heck, representing the great St. Louis manufacturers of tobacco, the anti-trust Liggett & Myers firm, was in this county last week and made a purchase of nearly 200,000 pounds. Very liberal prices were given, ranging from 6 to 9½, 7 prevailing. It is reported that he gave some few farmers more than was asked, the purchaser saying that their crops were as good as others who had received more.

"Very much more would have been bought had it been ready for market as he refuses to look at crops not stripped. By many these prices are considered as good as 10 cents in keeping order."

SHORT NEWS STORIES.

How the "Recessional" Was Written.
Roosevelt and Polly—Glad to See His Friend Cullom.

Rudyard Kipling has again been trapped by the wiles of the interviewer, this time somewhere in mid-Atlantic. Kipling's fellow voyager had heard of the last attempt on the author's (private) life, when in reply to an innocent question concerning his poems the writer of "Barrack Room Ballads" curtly remarked he thought Kipling a much overrated man and turned on his heel and walked away.

So the wise interviewer conversed with Kipling on every subject under the sun but his own works until in a weak moment the famous author began unconsciously to talk of himself and his poems. The interviewer then ventured a cautious appreciation of the "Recessional"—and sends the result to The Daily Mail.

"Ah," said Kipling, "that poem gave me more trouble than anything I ever wrote. I had promised The Times a poem on the jubilee, and when it became due I had written nothing that satisfied me. The Times began to want that poem badly and sent letter after letter asking for it.

"I made many more attempts, but no further progress. Finally The Times began sending me telegrams. So I shut myself in my room, with a determination to stay there until I had written a jubilee poem. Sitting down with all my previous attempts before me, I searched through those dozens of sketches till at last I found just one line I liked. That was, 'Lest we forget.' Round these words the 'Recessional' was written."—London Mail.

Roosevelt and Polly.

The colored cook on the transport going over had a parrot that was a wonder. It could swear in both English and Spanish and was willing and eager to learn more. It was Colonel Roosevelt's habit to go to the galley every night

"HOW ARE THE LADIES?"

Just before retiring for a cup of coffee. The last night on board ship the colonel left his stateroom and walked slowly forward to the galley in deep thought. Entering, he found the cook absent. He decided to wait, and to pass the time away turned to the parrot, which was sleeping.

"Hello, Polly!" he said.
The bird looked up, puffed out his feathers a bit and replied:
"Hello, madam! How are the ladies? How are the ladies? How in h—l are the ladies?"

The boys blamed it on Ham Fish.—Detroit Free Press.

Glad to See His Friend Cullom.

An interesting incident is told of the visit of Governor Cullom and his staff, together with the chief executives of 29 other states, to Yorktown, Va., in 1881, to celebrate the one-hundredth anniversary of the surrender of Lord Cornwallis with 7,000 men to General George Washington. General W. T. Sherman, who was an old friend of Governor Cullom, was present, and they had not met for a number of years. The celebration was opened with prayer, and the minister, impressed with the importance of the occasion, had prepared a long invocation, which required half an hour to deliver. Nearly every one present seemed to be weary by the length of the prayer, and General Sherman went to sleep. He woke up when the minister had read about half the prayer and saw his old friend for the first time. Unmindful of the minister, he arose from his seat and started toward Governor Cullom, shouting at the top of his voice: "Hello, Cullom! How are you?" The general's interruption almost broke up the preliminaries to the celebration, when Cullom quickly moved nearer the old warrior to quiet him, and then the minister finished the prayer without further interruption.

Not Abashed by a Knight.

Speaker Reed uses his wit without regard to the status of those who happen to be with him when he sees an opening for it. He was the guide of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and a number of members and attaches of the Canadian-American joint high commission in their tour of the capitol the day that Chairman Dingley entertained them at a luncheon in his committee room. Mr. Reed procured his visitors admittance into numerous rooms that would not have been opened to ordinary visitors, or in fact to hardly anybody, except upon an order from the speaker.

This was appreciated by Sir Wilfrid, but when there was a slight delay at the dining room entrance, owing to some confusion in arranging the tables and chairs, he thought to have a little fun at the speaker's expense by saying, "Your authority here, Mr. Reed, doesn't seem to be absolute." The speaker's eyes twinkled as he replied in his customary drawl, "Oh, it isn't hair trigger, but it will be all right in a minute." The delay was forgotten in the laughter which followed.

How Doctors Differ.

"For ten solid years," said a New Orleans broker, "I lived in perpetual apprehension of sudden death. A doctor in Texas told me—confound his picture—that I had valvular heart disease, and if I wanted to stay on earth I must avoid every species of excitement. I did my best to follow his advice, but that miserable specter was at my elbow day and night and embittered my whole existence. I don't believe I am a coward, but the thought preyed on me until I began to fear for my sanity.

"At last, after all these years of infinite precaution, I went to a first class specialist to find out how much longer I'd last and was assured that I hadn't one single symptom of the malady. Talk about removing a mountain from a man! That assurance knocked off an entire range. It changed the color of the universe in a twinkling, and I was so happy I wanted to just throw up my hat and yell.

"That was a couple of years ago, and I have enjoyed myself tip-top ever since up to one day last week, when I happened to be chatting with the specialist and remarked that I'd like to murder that sawbones in Texas. 'I don't blame you,' he said. 'That man had no right to tell you that you had heart disease. If I had found you right at death's door, I certainly would never have let you know it.' Now, by Jove, I don't know who or what to believe and am drifting back to the old state of uncertainty. I wish I lived in a cannibal island and had never heard of doctors."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

DENOUNCED IN PULPIC.

A Pastor at Chillicothe Asked to Resign and Does So.

Chillicothe, O., Jan. 16.—At the Park Street Christian Union church Sunday night Rev. Charles O'Shay was openly denounced while in the pulpit as a fraud and adulterer. The church was crowded.

O'Shay spoke briefly of the hardships of a Christian life and said he expected to be arrested before the meeting was over, and wanted every one to stand by him. Elder Samuel E. Whaley arose and pointing his finger at O'Shay, denounced him as an adulterer and fraud, and demanded his resignation.

Just then a veiled woman was escorted to the front of the pulpit, where she threw back her veil, disclosing the features of a young mulatto, who announced that she was O'Shay's wife. She produced a marriage license as proof, and O'Shay acknowledged the same. The wife accused him of being intimate with other women in the church. O'Shay resigned.

Corpse For a Pillow.

Newark, O., Jan. 16.—John Colwell, 21, came from Logan, O., to work on the natural gas line between Newark and Mt. Vernon. He worked five hours and in the evening started on a spree. About midnight he was found dead under a wagon at St. Louisville, and his partner, known as "Red," was "dead drunk," using the corpse for a pillow. There are no marks of violence on the body.

Democratic Contestant Seated.

Charleston, W. Va., Jan. 16.—The house seated J. A. Logan of Monroe county, the Democratic contestant, by a strict party vote, and took up the Taylor county contest case, by the majority report of the committee recommending that the seat remain vacant pending the contest, and the Republicans contending that Brohard should be seated. The house now stands Democrats, 38; Republicans, 33.

THE EXCELLENCE OF SYRUP OF FIGS

is due not only to the originality and simplicity of the combination, but also to the care and skill with which it is manufactured by scientific processes known to the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. only, and we wish to impress upon all the importance of purchasing the true and original remedy. As the genuine Syrup of Figs is manufactured by the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. only, a knowledge of that fact will assist one in avoiding the worthless imitations manufactured by other parties. Almost every man in America has some digestive trouble. When men meet, the greeting usually is, "Well, how are you?" That develops health talk. The man who has no bowel or stomach trouble is almost a curiosity. Trouble is men take no care of themselves. They eat as though they had copper stomachs and bowels of brass. By and by, overworked nature rebels. Then come headaches, nervousness, bad blood, liver and kidney troubles. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets furnish help for constipation and torpid liver, sick and bilious headache, dizziness, sour stomach, loss of appetite, indigestion, or dyspepsia, windy belchings, "heartburn," pain and distress after eating, and kindred derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels. Accept no substitute.
